Dramatic Episode.

The Senate chamber was the scene of a highly dramatic episode when Senator Benjamin Tillman of South Carolina challenged his colleague, Senator McLaurin, to resign with him on the spot in order to use his own language, that they might be allowed to "wash their dirty linen at home." Mr. McLaurin did not take up the gage.

The incident was the sequel of the very bitter controversy which arose between senators in South Carolina last spring.

Mr. McLaurin arose to a question of personal privilege and proceeded to explain what he charged was a conspiracy to discredit him. It did not meet the approval of certain Democratic leaders.

He declared that he was being humiliated and, according to public prints, was to be excluded from the Democratic caucus because he had acted upon certain public issues in a way which he considered for the best interests of the country and of the people of his state.

He announced himself a believer in the old Democracy, and after denouncing the new Democracy leaders, who, he said, had brought destruction upon the party, declared that he could not be driven from his old allegiance into a party with which he did not care to affiliate.

Mr. Tillman reviewed the whole controversy, and Mr. Hoar took occasion to express the opinion that it was very doubtful whether both the South Carolina seats in the senate were not in reality vacant. He contended that when the resignations were offered last spring, to the governor they could not be withdrawn therefrom, having become immediately operative.

The climax came when Senator Tillman challenged Mr. McLaurin to join him in preparing their joint resignation and handing them to the presiding officer of the senate. The episode was brought to an abrupt close by Senator Lodge moving an executive session.

Strange Bird Fights Farmer.

Mr. B. Gray, who lives near Amenia, Dutchess county, N. Y., says: "Chambersburg, Conroy Remedy is the best medicine I have ever used. It is a fine child's remedy for crop and never fails a cure." When given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croaky cough has developed, it will prevent the attack. This should be borne in mind and a bottle of the Conroy Remedy kept at hand ready for instant use as soon as these symptoms appear. For sale by M. Cravena.

There will not be at the January term of the Franklin circuit court for Berry Howard's trial. It is said he may have a hearing for bail.

Folsom a Deadly Attack.

"My wife was so ill that good physicians were unable to help her," writes M. M. Austin, of Winchester, Ind.—"but was completely cured by Dr. King's 'New Life Hills.' Teary eye wonders in stomach and liver troubles. Cure constipation, sick headache. 25 at T. E. Paul's, Columbia and W. H. Wilkinson's, Liberty.

One hundred and sixty street cars were destroyed in Chicago by the burning of the Lincoln Avenue barn of the Chicago Traction Company.

The Pride of Heroes.

Visit to Goebel's Grave.

I strolled out to the Frankfort cemetery—one of the most beautiful spots on earth I verily believe—and stood by the grave of William Goebel, the kindest spirit of them all, yesterday evening. There is no mark now to distinguish the little earth-bound where, after his stormy life and tragic death, he rests at last. Presently they will rear a marble shaft that will tower towards the sky and stand a mute, undying protest against the cruelty of man to man. But it will not bring him back. The unconquerable spirit has fled to the God who created it; the powerful heart, the dauntless heart, the poor tenement of clay, have moulded back to a mother earth kinder, more merciful, than his fellow man. And the end of all the struggles of life such as few mortals ever live is a hillock of clay, a handful of withered flowers—the darkness, the silence, the oblivion of the tomb. Oh, the infinite pity of it! Better, thousand fold better, had democracy lost, and its great leader lived to let it stand. There was but one William Goebel. Kentucky will never look upon like again.—J. M. Richardson in the Glasgow Times.

Operations in Wayne.

The following is a summary of operations in the Wayne oil field as given by a correspondent to the Courier-Journal, and is doubtless correct or nearly so: Total number of wells drilled, sixty-two; total number of producing wells, twenty-eight; total number of dry wells, thirty-four; total number of producing wells drilled, fourteen; present number of producing wells, eighteen; number of wells better than 100 barrels, per day; total daily production, 750 barrels; average daily production a well, forty barrels. Note the average production, leaving out the four large wells at Sunnyside, is about four barrels a well. The pay wells outside of Sunnyside are from one to six years old and are drilled only to first sand.

Race for U. S. Senator.

Mr. J. M. Richardson, editor of the Glasgow Times, writes his paper as follows, from Frankfort:

"There is one feature of the situation that should give heart-felt pleasure to every good citizen. Whatever happens there will be no repetition of the riotous proceedings the bloody tragedies, of the Blackburn-Hunter and Goebel-Taylor legislatures. No republican governor will call out a thousand militia to prevent the election of a United States Senator. There will be no ringing of riot alarms at the dead hour of night. The legislature will not be dispersed at the point of the bayonet or recalled for slaughter. There will be no more of dark conspiracy or infamous assassination. Brady is retired to private life. Taylor is uneasily writhing on the bed he made for himself in Indiana. The republican party has been tried, found utterly wanting and turned out of the power it could only use to abuse. Democracy will not least conduct itself decently, and republicanism is powerless. There will be row, but they will all be in the democratic family and, like the proverbial feline fogy, only result in more democrats. There will be a royal battle—but it will be of brain and political strategy. There will be pitting of intellect, and sharpening of wits and a fierce struggle for a prize the highest that can come to a Kentuckian honored by Kentuckians—but through it all will shine the sun of good-humor, and it will all be between democrats. The republicans are not in it—it is—G. H. Williams."

There will not be at the January term of the Franklin circuit court for Berry Howard's trial. It is said he may have a hearing for bail.

Thoughts From Sermons.

"The great claim that Christ makes for himself is that he has come into the world as the source, and the only source, of spiritual life."—The Reverend J. F. Cannon.

"Man was created in God's image—not without consultation!"—The Reverend John L. Brandt.

"We judge that he died that they who live should not live unto themselves, but unto him who died for them and rose again!"—The Reverend C. R. Watson.

"Winter forces men to fight cold and hunger, or to overcome. Out of this battle are born courage and fortitude and foresight. We Americans are losing sight of the value of cold—human nature needs opposition. There is a physical, as well as spiritual, trial of life. Opposition is never pleasant but it is productive."—The Reverend W. J. Williamson.

"Of all titles, Christianity has received most to be called 'the religion of the poor'."—The Reverend F. M. Kiely.

"Sometimes unexpected agonies come into our own hearts, when our work appears to be acceptable and successful, the worker is ignored and forgotten. This is what tests us."—The Reverend E. Duckworth.

"Smooth out the little imperfections which mar life. The fly is a little thing so is the rift in the lute, but the one destroys the fragrance that might fill a room; the other destroys a harmony that might thrill a soul."—The Reverend J. C. Hornung.

"No cause is so important as not to find men ready to endanger life for it."—The Reverend M. T. Haw.

"The result of every minister's study ought to be a systematic form of truth."—The Reverend F. W. Sted.

Three Months Have Passed.

Just three months ago this morning President McKinley died. Just three months ago to-day, at Buffalo, Mr. Roosevelt took the oath of office as President and sir!

"In this hour of deep natural悲哀 I wish to state that it shall be my aim to continue as fully as possible the policy of President McKinley."

And the whole country stood relieved and grateful for the announcement that the dead President's policy would be the new President's chart.

Yet now that three months have passed since that policy was solemnly given and so loudly acclaimed by the nation that it is still the moral law of the land, we find that the new President's policy is not the same.

It is this that above all others has caused the greatest dissatisfaction.

Mr. Roosevelt's first message to Congress is an absolute rejection of the main feature of Mr. McKinley's policy as outlined in his speech at the Buffalo Exposition, and which proved to be his firebrand message to the country. That speech was received with the greatest enthusiasm.

"The period of exclusiveness is past. The expansion of our trade and commerce is the pressing problem. Commercial wars are unprofitable. A policy of good will and friendly relations will prevent revivals. Reciprocity treaties are in harmony with the spirit of the times; measures of retaliation are not."

In President Roosevelt's message there is nothing like that. He has practically repudiated it all—and the reciprocity treaties are dead.

Nor is this the only, though it is the most important, change in the policy of McKinley.

There is a new Collector of the Port of New York, the first Federal official outside of Washington—and he is not to be Mr. Bidwell, whom Mr. McKinley had decided to reappoint.

And the chief counselor and senatorial representative of President Roosevelt is not Mr. Hanna.

In fact, three months after the new President's promise to "conserve absolutely unchanged" his McKinley policy, nothing material of that policy remains unchanged except that the war in the Philippines goes on and the tariff-shattered trust, the monopoly, the subsidy hunters and all the capitalistic combinations that thrive by Government privileges and favors continue to enjoy the Administration's first consideration and a care.

Now, however, the new President's policy is not so far-reaching as that of Mr. McKinley.

The blizzard in the Westland North West has spent its force. The damage is not so great as first reported.

A fire at Salem, W. Va., destroyed fifty-six buildings. The loss is estimated at $30,000, with little insurance.

"Rattlesnakes are grateful if you gain their affections," says a correspondent of the Coruscator, Texas, Now. "My brother Jim, found a six-foot rattler near town caught under a boulder, and instead of using his advantage he sympathetically released the snake which became a pet and followed Jim about and guarded him as watchfully as a dog. One night he was awakened and missing the snake from its usual place at the foot of the bed, he knew something was wrong. He got up and lighted a match to investigate and found a burglar in the next room in the coils of the snake, which had its tail out the window rattling for a policeman."

Mrs. Mary Hayes was drowned near Williamsburg while attempting to ford the river. The mule she was riding became unmanageable and got into deep water, and she was washed off.

WEDNESDAY, DEC. 25

By order of Commissioner Yorkes the pay of storekeepers gingers must not exceed three dollars per day.

Postmaster General Smith has resigned and Henry C. Payne has been appointed in his stead. There is an intimation that other resignations will follow.

A sensational story comes from the East that the President was assaulted by a footpad a few days ago. The President knocked the man down and went on his way rejoicing.

The Kentucky Legislature will meet Tuesday, January 7. The body will be largely Democratic. A United States Senator will be elected during the Session, and the State redistricted.

Rep. John Quinn, who murdered Mr. John Crum, paid the penalty on the gallows at Danville last Friday. Quinn did not weaken until he heard the mechanics building the death-trap.

Gov. Bradley has raised a howl in the Republican ranks, and his forces are now arranging to control the patronage of the State. Bradley is making the effort of his life to out-Yorkes, and in an open letter calls his political enemies "little curs."

Hon. Milton J. Durham, who used to remove his coat and collar while speaking for Democratic principles, and who was honored by his, then party a number of times, is now filling the position of Deputy Collector in the Lexington district. Mr. Durham is now about eighty years old, and before he goes hence Hon. J. Proctor Knott is anxious for him to meet and "tell Andy Higgins howdy."

The Webster county grand jury has returned indictments against James D. Wood, Christopher C. Barnard and W. B. Kissinger, officers of the United Mine Workers, charging them with being accessories before the fact to wilful murder. The indictments are based on the fight at Providence mines and are believed to have been presented by reason of papers found on the body of a union miner who was killed during the attack on the mines.

Adj. Gen. Murray has notified the Kentucky soldiers of the three State Guard regiments which enlisted in the Spanish-American War that they are entitled to pay at the State Guard rate from the time they left home until they were mustered into Federal service. Officers of the regiments will have to make out the claims promptly, as they must be filed at the War Department by January 1, and must be in Adj. Gen. Murray's hands by December 26.

For a generation past the newspapers and pulpit have seldom lost an opportunity to moralize upon Kentucky as the "dark and bloody ground," the single state in the Union where passion never cools, and where public law is always subordinate to the personal code. To discover the facts concerning Kentucky funds, their causes and results, the editor of Leslie's Monthly sent Mr. E. Carl Little a careful and accurate observer, on a journey through the most notorious districts of the State. Mr. Little discarded all hearsay and relied solely upon first hand information. The story of all he saw and heard, which is set forth in Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for January, is of peculiar interest to every Kentuckian.

A HAND SHAKE.

For the past few weeks there has appeared in the Columbus Spectator and the Adair County News a heated discussion on the action of the School Board in adopting school books. It appeared to me, as one of the board, that the editor of the News was attempting to cast undue reflection on the Board. This led me, together with the other members of the Board, to charge the editor of the News with malicious lying. The editor of the News has several times stated that he did not mean to cast any reflection on the honor of the Board. I now respectfully withdraw the personal attack made upon him and consider him a gentleman of honor. This is made that the readers, of the two papers, may understand that this unpleasant controversy is, so far as I am concerned, at an end.

W. D. JONES.

The above retraction and apology made by Mr. W. D. Jones explains itself. Most any person can make changes, but it takes a true man to retreat when convinced of doing wrong. I accept his statement as full and complete compensation and in this action he has done all that any true gentleman could do. Now — T. E. Hanley gave a life sentence.

The Schley case is settled so far as the Navy Department is concerned. Secretary Long disregards Dewey's decision and acts with the majority of the Court. Long's action is branded by one of Schley's attorneys as "arbitrary and tyrannical." The whole proceedings, from start to finish, was nonsensical foolishness.

Under the present management of the penitentiary at Frankfort the institution has become self-sustaining. The report of the Commissioners show that they have been more interested in cutting down the expenses of the State than in their own salaries.

Senator Depew is now getting a little unconcerned. Says now that he does not know when he will get married. Just any old time when it suits the intended bride's convenience.

Marriage by telegraph ought to become a popular fad this kind of weather. The wires are all in a contracting condition.

GRADYVILLE.

Sam Lewis, of Columbia, was here Saturday, looking after produce.

Had no mail from Columbia last Saturday.

Rev. Ed Wilson filled the pulpit at the Baptist church last Sunday.

KELTNER.

Mr. A. B. Wilmore was in company last week taking the list.

The meeting conducted by Rev. Harwood closed Sunday night with the church much revived and a number of conversions.

W. P. Price will begin a singing here as soon as the weather moderates.

Born, to the wife of T. W. Dowell, a ten pound Democrat boy.

Mr. Nat Ketner has an attack of pneumonia fever.

O. E. Finn has killed quite a number of rabbits during this snow.

Quite a number of apples have been made for our free school.

Mr. Wesley Coffey was married to Miss Little Ketner on the 19th. Their friends wish them much success.

Mr. J. B. Patterson Dead

The people of this community were greatly grieved over the death of Mr. J. B. Patterson, the proprietor of the hotel and a prominent merchant was dead. Heart failure was the cause of his demise.

The deceased was about fifty-one years old and was born and reared in the Russell county, his early manhood being spent at the Russell Springs, his mother owning the property until the family removed to Jamestown.

A few years ago Mr. Patterson erected a large hotel building and was engaged in the business of entertainment and a general dry goods store when the summons came.

About twenty-four years ago the deceased was happily married to Miss Belle Smith of Adair county, and they had a daughter who is now Mrs. Baughman, who resides in this town.

Mr. J. B. Patterson was buried with Masonic honors and the services were conducted by Eld. A. H. Baughman.

Notwithstanding the cold and disagreeable weather many friends were present to pay their last respects to one who had been so active in the affairs of Jamestown and Russell county.

Like all the other Mr. Patterson had his faults, but he was a kind and sympathetic man, a devoted husband and a loving, indulgent father. We point to the good qualities of the family to the giving of all that is good. If one comes to comfort when such sorrow comes to a household.

Mysteriously Missing.

Last Friday, Dr. Braxton Coffey, a man who has been considered unreliable for several months, and was once a member of the Ku Klux Klan, was found in Camp Knott, went with a wagon and team to Greensburg for a load of goods for Mr. Titus Mercer, who is doing business at Old Haskinsville.

The goods were loaded at the depot in Haskinsville and Mr. Coffey started home. His horses became lame. When he stopped to rest, took out one of the horses and left, leaving one horse, waggon and goods on the roadside. Some passing individuals told Mr. Mercer and his son that Coffey had been missing and his team had been found.

The neighbors conceived the idea that he might have gotten drowned, but the creek he would have crossed was thin and shallow.

It will be remembered that Friday week was a bitter, cold day, and the theory now is that the unfortunate man ran to some isolated spot and was frozen to death.

The first week of January will bring the second Monday in January. The meetings will go from church to church and if the weather is so poor a person can get out they will be largely attended.

When all denominations come together, stop and pray for each other. Then the services will be held in the church of the one who is like Christianity, and the services usually result in good. A series of meetings generally follow the week of prayer, a propositus time for a revival.

There is scarcely a week but largely made about is not only a relief and protection to the poor little "Bob White" family, but to many farmers, as well. The partridge is one of the prettiest and most cheerful birds of the field and one among the most popular of the farmer, because of its incessant warbling. Yet some farmers keep them up and even shoot them to keep them from attacking their crops.

County Superintendent T. S. Isbell, will enter this place this week. There will be other students from Russell and Mr. Isbell will give several classes. He is an excellent gentleman, fully qualified to instruct in the branches in which he is familiar. He has taught several years.

A bill will be introduced in the next Legislature, making some change in the school laws. An effort will be made to do away with the school board system, and the school board will be replaced by a central board of education.

Kentucky and the Purchase.
It Kentucky is not solely responsible for the Purchase, she is to be blamed in the action that forced it, since she cannot afford to offer an alibi plea for her fair of 1903. She ought to be here with the biggest and the best State exhibit that comes from east of the Mississippi.

For more than twenty years the Kentuckians were always making a righteous row about Spanish obstruction of the Mississippi's navigation, and Kentucky soil produced more than one scheme to sell the port, near the mouth of the river with a filibustering force. Protests against the neglect or failure of the General Government to provide free navigation of the Mississippi in some way were even louder in Kentucky than in Tennessee and Ohio. In all these States, however, the protest was loud enough and earnest enough to make it necessary for the United States to acquire New Orleans in order to hold in the region west of the Alleghenies.

But some years before the navigation of the Mississippi became a burning question, the Kentuckian, George Rogers Clark, with a body of Kentucky volunteers, acting by authority of the State of Virginia, had seized the British posts at Kaskaskia and Vincennes, thus making the Mississippi the western boundary of the United States north of the Ohio. Eight years before the Purchase the Kentuckian, Daniel Boone, who had blazed the way for Henderson's Transylvania colony, led the pioneer movement into the Spanish territory west of the river, and with his son and son-in-law, Callaway, established a settlement on the Missouri. Without any purchase, the other pioneers who would surely have followed him would have annexed Missouri to the United States. Texas was annexed by the migration of American pioneers into the country between the Sabine and the Rio Grande.

When the American flag was firmly planted west of the river the Kentuckians, well knowing where to find good lands, came in multitudes and occupied the most salubrious and fertile portions of Missouri, and their descendants are here yet, proud of their Kentucky ancestry. That is to say, most of them are here yet, for not a few of them, under the generic name of Pikers, have blazed all sorts of trails in other parts of the Purchase—in Montana and Idaho; in Kansas, Nebraska and Colorado; as well as in California, Oregon and Washington.

At the battle of New Orleans, too, the Kentuckians bore a hand with the Tennesseeans in holding off the United States; the magnificent domain they had been so potent in acquiring, if the British had won, would have been slow to evacuate New Orleans as they had been given up. Indeed, after the Revolutionary War, when England signed the treaty ending the war, the Purchase had been signed in Goshen, New York, before the battle was fought.

The Purchase States went to meet Kentucky in St. Louis in 1903, and the Kentucky Kian Missourians specially desire their compatriots and their brothers in the old State to come and see what women's blood has accomplished west of the great river in a century. Kentucky is expected to come, to the Purchase Fair with her best foot forward.—St. Louis Republic.

Ship Satisfy Bill.

In the next session of the Illinois State Grange, renewing that body's opposition to the passage of the ship subsidy bill, there is found continued proof of the fact that public sentiment is uniformly against the measure, in question and that strong pressure will again be brought to bear in Washington.

The mass of this unending opposition to the ship subsidy bill was recently stated in that sentence of the resolution adopted by the Illinois State Grange which declared that the defeat of the bill "is much to be wished and urged" as "a powerful argument to force the ship subsidy bill to be accepted." The Grange declared, "It is to no use and useless to argue that the shipping companies will remove from the port of St. Louis the just criticism that the bill is a bad measure."

measure in his message to Congress. The spectacle likely to be presented in Washington during the first week of December is the passage of the ship subsidy bill in the face of a popular opposition which, under proper conditions, should make defeat certain.—St. Louis Republic.

Mr. T. P. Jeffries is visiting the family of G. A. Bradshaw this week.

Theodore Powell, who has been very sick for the past week, is improving.

Miss Fannie Taylor attended the reception given at the home of J. R. Montgomery last Sunday night, in honor of the marriage of his son, Frank, to Miss Mary Ellen Conover.

Miss Nona Jeffries, who has been quite sick, is improving.

Nat and Eliza White will locate in our neighborhood the first of the year.

Iaac Montgomery sold a bunch of cattle to Bridgewater & Moody last week for $45.

R. O. Cobbett returned home last Wednesday night from Casey county where he has been conducting singing schools at Dunnville and Phil, and also at Nesteving in this county. He reports a very pleasant time during his stay and says he never met a more hospitable people, and that he greatly appreciated their kindness to him.

Miss Tessie Young, who has been confined to her room for several weeks with fever, is improving slowly.

F. M. Montgomery will teach a winter term of school at Fall River to begin the first of the year.

Miss Estelle Willis will open a Spring term of school at Pellyton Jan. 6.

The neighbors of this community gave Miss Tessie Young a surprise birthday dinner the 16th instant. An elegant table was spread, consisting of everything that makes a dinner enjoyable. The merriment of the crowd added largely to the pleasure of the occasion. None present seemed to enjoy the day more than Miss Tessie, who expressed her appreciation to the visitors for the many dainties brought in. Those present were: J. P. Willis, Everett Montgomery, R. O. Cobbett, Charles Young; Mrs. Faye Willis, Mrs. Mary L. Tupper; Misses Eliza Montgomery, Estelle Willis and Avis Tupper.

The Christmas Folk.

No man or woman of kindly disposition should be ashamed of the upspringing of genial sentiment which leads them to surrender to the Christmas spirit and join the bustling crowds of holiday shoppers thronging the streets in the downtown retail districts.

There is, of course, no excuse from the purely practical viewpoint for the custom of buying gifts for the children and one's grown-up kinfolk or dear friends at Christmas time. Every dollar spent could be saved and put to better uses without subjecting oneself to financial straits.

in themselves and a surrender to them is wise on our part. We get more than our money's worth when we succumb to the Christmas fever. There has never yet been a Christmas which has not served a divine purpose in warming people's hearts toward one another, in stimulating friendship, in expressing selflessness, in causing us to think most of others, in teaching us how much happiness there is in a sacrificing attempt to increase the general stock of happiness. This is, indeed, the great blessing contained in the observance of Christmas.

"About five years ago I was troubled with catarrh of the lower bowel," says C. T. Chisholm, 344 Darborn Ave., Chicago, and although I consulted several eminent physicians who prescribed for me, I found their remedies failed to do away with my trouble, and the trouble almost became chronic. After suffering several months, I decided to try Chamberlain's Cole Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and I beg to assure you that I was most agreeably surprised to find after taking two doses of the remedy that I was completely relieved of the disease that had cost me so much trouble and annoyance. I am thankful to say that I have not suffered from it since." For sale by M. Cravens.

5 Million Voices.

Could hardly express the thanks of Homer Hall, of West Point, Ia. Listen why: A severe cold settled on his lungs, causing a most obstinate cough. Several physicians said he had consumption, but could not help him. When all thought he was doomed he was cured by Dr. Kline's New Discovery for Consumption and writes: "It completely cured me and saved my life. I now weigh 227 lbs." It's positively guaranteed for Cough, Colds and Lung troubles. Price 50 c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at T. E. Paul's Columbia and W. H. Wilkinson, of Liberty.

New considerations of world-power may force a permanent American sovereignty over the Philippine Archipelago as a possession of great significance in warlike diplomacy. If the Philippines are permanently held by us, they will be held always as alien territory, their people an alien and inferior race.

The facts are apparent, also, that Judge De Armond has little hope that the Philippines can ever be uplifted into a national capability for self-government according to the ideals of the white races. They are already, he says, fit to conduct a "dark race government in a land of the dark race," but beyond this they cannot progress. If the Philippines are permanently held by us, they will be held always as alien territory, their people an alien and inferior race.

The Best Plaster.

A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound to the affected parts is superior to any plaster. When troubled with lame back or pains in the side or chest, give it a trial and you are certain to be more than pleased with the prompt relief which it affords. Pain Balm also cures rheumatism. Our application gives relief. For sale by M. Cravens.

Pneumonia Prevented.

Among the tens of thousands who have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for colds and influenza during the past few years, to our knowledge, not a single case has resulted in pneumonia. Thus Whitfield & Co., 240 Wabash Avenue, Chicago, one of the most prominent druggists in that city, in speaking of this, says: "We recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for a cold or grippe in many cases, as it not only gives prompt and complete recovery, but also counteracts any tendency of lagrige to result in pneumonia." For sale by M. Cravens.

The Sugar Question.

The people of the United States are now paying a sugar tax of about $50,000,000 per year on importation necessary to supply consumption in excess of what is produced from home-grown sugar beets and from cane produced in Louisiana, Hawaii and Porto Rico. There is a difference between the tax on raw and refined sugar which gives the sugar trust an undue advantage, to that extent increasing the cost of sugar to the consumer without advantage to the treasury. The sugar trust magnates would be very glad to see the duty on raw sugar reduced and the duty on refined sugar maintained. The best root and cane sugar profiteers, on the contrary, are opposed to any reduction of tax on raw sugar, because whatever cut should be made in the duty would be tantamount to an equal cut of the price of their staple in the home market.

The government is practically promised, tied and morally bound to give the Cubans either free access to our markets with their sugar or an 8% reduced reciprocal rate would make their crop remunerative. We have sent them off from the Spanish market, and are, therefore, still more bound to admit them to their more natural market. The situation in the Philippines is in which respects similar. There is, no doubt that they should furnish a profitable market for the sugar production of the Philippines, it would be much more remunerative than it is at present, especially if the sugar is to be vastly cheaper.
